HB 867 Truth in Prescription Pricing for Patients Act; enact

Bill Summary: House Bill 867 is known as the 'Truth in Prescription Pricing for Patients Act' and relates to the regulation and licensure of pharmacy benefit managers. The bill requires a pharmacy benefit manager (PBM) to calculate an insured's cost-sharing requirements for a prescription drug at the point of sale based on the prescription drug's "true net cost", which is defined as the amount paid or to be paid by a PBM or health plan client to the pharmacy or dispenser for a prescription drug, calculated at the point of sale, less any rebates received or estimated to be received by the PBM or its health plan client.

The PBM must disclose this calculation at the point of sale or within 180 days of the point of sale if it affects the insured's cost-sharing requirements. If the prescription drug's final net cost is subsequently calculated to result in a lower cost-sharing requirement, the PBM must remit payment within 180 days to the insured for the excess amount. If the prescription drug's final net cost is subsequently calculated to result in a higher cost-sharing requirement, the PBM or health plan client cannot hold the insured or dispensing pharmacy responsible for the underpaid amount.

The bill changes the definition of "rebate" to include price concessions that accrue to a pharmacy benefit manager or its health plan client, including through an affiliate, subsidiary, third party, or intermediary of the pharmacy benefit manager or pharmaceutical manufacturer.

This bill does not apply to any health coverage or policy administered on behalf of the state, which includes the State Health Benefit Plan, Medicaid, and PeachCare for Kids. Additionally, this bill does not apply to a PBM that certifies to the Department of Community Health that 100 percent of all rebates the PBM receives are passed on to the health plan.

Bills passing committees are reported to the Clerk's Office and are placed on the General Calendar.

Banks & Banking Committee

HB 891 Banking and finance; financial institutions; provide for numerous updates

Bill Summary: House Bill 891 is the annual revision of Title 7 of the Code, relating to banking and finance, by the Georgia Department of Banking and Finance. Superfluous/redundant language is clarified and removed, terminology is updated, and outdated/unnecessary language is removed.

The bill eliminates the reporting requirement of permissible borrowings by department employees. It also increases the credit card limit of employees from $10,000 to $25,000, so long as the employee does not have direct examination authority over the entity and continues to report credit card debt.

The bill alters control language in the Code by providing that if no person or entity controls 25 percent or more of a bank or holding company, then the largest shareholder over 10 percent will be subject to change in control processes. The bill also eliminates consideration of convenience and needs in the event of a change of control or acquisition. It clarifies that change in control provisions also apply to financial institutions other than banks. Additionally, it allows an LLC, in addition to a corporation, to merge into a bank or trust company.

HB 891 revises representative office processes by providing that home state laws of a national/out-of-state bank apply to the location unless in conflict with state law. It also adopts the federal law limitation prohibiting a loan production office from closing loans at the location. The language indicating an agent of a bank or holding company can open a representative office is struck. Notice is required prior to closing a representative office.

The bill requires the president of a new credit union to be named at the organizational meeting while eliminating the annual appointment requirement of a president by the board of directors. It removes the requirement for a credit union offering third-party payment services to get approval from the department. Credit union members are prohibited from voting by proxy, and credit union boards are permitted to meet less frequently than once during 10 months of the calendar year with the department's approval. Smaller asset credit unions (assets of $15 million or less) are permitted to not secure a small signature loan if a car loan already exists, so long as the total combined liability is $50,000 or less.

The bill modifies law related to bank investors by providing that a passive investor, an investor who does not exercise control and has less than a 25 percent ownership interest, does not have to be vetted and approved by the department. The department may disapprove of an executive officer that did not have to be vetted by the department through the control process.

HB 891 authorizes an installment lending licensee to make a loan of up to $3,000. The bill additionally repeals the current provision requiring a three percent tax on interest provision collected by installment lenders and replaces it with a percentage fee based on the gross loan amount at the time of funding.

HB 899 Contracts; legal effects of the discontinuance of LIBOR; provisions

Bill Summary: House Bill 899 addresses the discontinuation of the London Interbank Offered Rate (LIBOR) as the predominant interest-rate average and allows for a recommended benchmark replacement for any contract, security, or instrument that uses LIBOR absent any fallback provisions. The benchmark replacement may or may not be based in whole or in part on a prior LIBOR setting. The benchmark replacement, upon its adoption, shall become a part of the contract, security, or instrument. Discontinuing LIBOR and using a recommended benchmark replacement shall not void, nullify, constitute a breach, or excuse performance under any contract, security, or instrument.
